

Veteran's Writing Project – Jim Ott

Funding from the CARE grant made possible the creation of a website to publish the stories of student veterans at Las Positas College. The site can be accessed at www.lpcvetstories.com. One of the outcomes of this website and the veterans writing project is captured in the attached a photo. The photo shows Jim Ott (on the left) with some of the veterans whose stories are published on the site. The picture was taken by our college president at an evening event on November 4, 2015 when these veterans publicly read their stories to an audience of 135 community members, faculty, staff, and students in the college theater. The public reading event came about as a result of the website / CARE grant, which means that the funds from the grant made an even greater impact benefitting student veterans beyond the creation of the website.
