

DegreeWorks In-office Display

Michael Schwarz, Las Positas College

Thank you to the CARE grant team for funding the DegreeWorks in-office display monitor.

The ability to simultaneously display a student's degree evaluation with their education plan greatly enhanced the process of students and counselors working together to create long-term course plans in order to achieve their educational goals. Prior to installation of the display, counselors would have to toggle between DegreeWorks evaluations and the educational plan form to create the plan, leading to an inefficient process. Some counselors elected to work with two monitors to overcome this difficulty; however, the display was too small for students and counselors to easily view. The large size of the DegreeWorks in-office display alleviates both concerns. In addition, it has the added benefit of an even larger view for students who are requesting a DegreeWorks degree audit alone. In summary, the addition of the DegreeWorks in-office has enhanced services to students by making the time counselors spend with them more efficient and thus, more valuable.

Thank you again for supporting this project.
